RULE IN ERIN

The Irish Party Will Stand by the Gladstone Bill.

It Is a Substantial Advance Over the Measure Proposed in 1886.

THE VIEWS OF DILLON, O'BRIEN. DAVITT AND BURNS.

clusion Reached and Cabled to the Friends of Home Rule in the United States and Canada-Closing Paragraphs of the Premier's Great Speech of Yesterday-The Irish Parliament and Its Powers.

London, Feb. 14.-The following statement of the contents of the home rule bill and the attitude of the Irish Parliamentary party has been officially handed to your correspondent: The bill offers Ireland a Legislature, a leal in all Irish affairs, and an executive government responsible to that Legislature. In all the main principles and in the political machinery it is provided much better than the bill of 1886. The Irish Parliamentary party, at a meeting specially sum-moned after the delivery of Mr. Monded after the delivery of bar-Gladstohe's great speech, cordially accepted the new home rule constitution as a satisfactory scheme of Irish national self-government, subject to endeavors in committee to improve the proposed financial wherein the land question is to be withheld from the purview of the Irish National Legislature. We are authorized by the party to transmit this, our position, to the friends and supporters of Irish liberty in the United JOHN DILLON MICHAEL DAVITT.

THE IRISH PARLIAMENT. osing passages of Mr. Gladstone's speech delivered yesterday in introducing the home rule bill were particularly strong. Speaking of the proposed Irish Parliament he defined its character and powers as folhe defined its character and powers as follows:

Power is granted to the Irish Legislature which consists, first of all, of a legislative council; secondly, of a legislative assembly empowered to make laws for the peace, order and good government of Ireland and in respect to matiers exclusively relative to Ireland or a power with the peace and the peace and good government of Ireland and in respect to matters exclusively relative to the peace and good government of Ireland and Ireland or a property of Ireland or a power with the peace and good government of Ireland to Ireland Ireland

Then comes a clause which may be considered formal, although it is of great importance, providing for the full devolution of executive power from the sovereign upon the vic-roy. Then comes an important provision for the appropriation of an executive committee of the Privy Court of Ireland. We bropose to make this an executive council for the ordinary affairs of the Cabinet of the Viceroy. The question arises, shall there be any legislative council? All decided that there ought to be such a council. It has appeared to us to be highly inconvenient to alter the numbers of the Legislative Assembly. If we were to increase the number, we do not know what the increase ought to be. If we were to reduce it, we run serious risks of causing practical inconveniences in Dublin, especially at the time when the functions of the internal Government come to be newly exercised, and when probably there will

We, therefore, propose an elective Council, believing it to be the only form wherein e can give any great force to the vitality of the institution. Well, then, how owe differentiate this Council from that opular assembly? We propose to fix the number forty-eigh, with an eight years' term of office, term of popular assembly being less. We then institute a new constituency. The council continuous must, in the first place, be associated with ratable value of £20 whereby to secure an aggreate constituency approaching 170,000 persons, incuding owners as well as occupants, but subject to provision that no owner or occupier has a vote increase of £30 members must be elected in the legislative secure. vicissisdes of human affairs in times that are to come. 'A LONG STEP FORWARD.

Mr. John Dillion in an interview said that the main fact was admitted—that the bill was a great advance on the bill of 1895.

"Hence." he added, "the Irish feel that although they cannot approve the present financial proposals and the provision regarding the land question, they are bound to recognize in the heartlest manner the noble courage and fidelity of Mr. Gladstone in offering this constitution to their country. The main improvements in the new bill are first the disappearance of the Receiver-General, and consequent perfect financial freedom for the ent perfect financial freedom for the Irish Government, which will be able to collect and control its own revenues. The second improvement is the constitution of the second chamber, which makes the Legislature a thoroughly workable and democratic body. The third improvement is in the veto power, which is provided for in a better manner than in the bill of 1886. The fourth improvement is Irish control of the police and of the land question after a limited time.

"In regard to the retention of Irish mem-bers at Westminster, it may be mentioned that this was accepted by Mr. Parnell years

"I see no objection to a reduction of the number of Irish representatives in the Imperial Parliament and I accept the religious restrictions heartily. I believe the bill will pass the House of Commons. The Tories are, of course, bitcommons. The Tories are, of course, bit-terly opposed to it, as they were to the bill of 1886, but I consider that Irishmen who will refuse to accept it will prove themselves un-worthy of the confidence of their country." The comments in the evening newspapers on the subject of home rule are on the same lines as those which appeared in the morn ing papers. The Conservative journals re-ject the measure in toto, while the Liberal papers approve and praise it, although at same time, picking small n certain provisions of the bill. The Prince of Wales was the first to congratulate Mr. Gladstone yesterday in a private room at the House of Commons, after his address introducing the home rule bill. Then the Duchess of Teck and the Princesses Louise and May of Teck congratulated the

Premier. COMMENTS ON THE BILL. Wm. O'Brien, M. P. for Cork City, said this morning in an interview regarding the home rule bill introduced in Parliament by

"It seems to me that the main principles of the bill provided a better settlement of the home rule question than that of 1886. Our chief reservation is on the financial proposals. It remains to be seen whether Mr. Giadstone's surplus of half a millon pounds is real. Mr. Sexton, Mr. Dillon, Mr. Blake, and others of our friends fear that the full extent of Irish local charges have not been taken into account. The proposed contribution for the support of the police will involve a formidable drain for the first few years. Irishmen will hold their opinions on such matters at present, and do the threshing out when the figures are fully examined and understood. Nevertheless the main lines of the bill are a noble and sufficient settlement of the national claims. We are able to heartily recommend Irish acceptance of the measures giving them substantial control over our domestic affairs, we should not be justified in resenting the provisions giving the minority adequate representation and providing for a veto by the crown and the supremacy of the imperial doubtless be a considerable drag, and the franchise of £20 will probably insure a majority of the members of the council for the Tory land owners, who are certain to combine against any extravagant proposals on the part of the popular chamber. This, however, is not likely to be a stumbling block, as the Neidonalists de nevertime to the contemblate a revointo account. The proposed contribution for ever, is not likely to be a stumbling block, as the Nationalists do not contemplate a revoever, is not likely to be a stumbling block, as the Nationalists do not contemplate a revolutionary programme.

"The programme of the Nationalists should be sympathetic and patriotic, combining all sensible people in the work of advancing the business interests of Ireland.

"The police arrangements," added Mr. O'Brien. "are practically those agreed upon with Mr. Parnell at Boulogne. The bulk of the present force would doubtless be reengaged under Irish authority. The checks upon the appointment of judges are Irksome, but possibly useful. There are now too many judges in Ireland, but the chances are that the more rabid of these will retire on pensions. It is a sacrifice to demand that Irishmen shall be debarred from touching the land question for three years. We recognize that, the compromise is reasonable, but must press for power to check the present land commissioners in the meantime from saddling leaseholders with rack rents. Irishmen will probably assent to a reduction of the membership at Westminster."

Mr. John Burns, the labor member for Battersea, said that he was greatly pleased with the bill, although from a democratic point of view it was not an ideal measure. He objected to the veto power reserved to the crown, to the second chamber and especially to the election of that chamber by limited franchise. Mr. Burns said that notwithstanding these objections he would certainly support the measure.

THE IRISH PRESS. DUBLIN, Feb. 14 .- The Express says of the home rule bill: It is mostly a mere repeti-tion of the former bill. Where it differs it is more complex and impracticable. The suggested safeguards are most illusory.

gested safeguards are most illusory.

The Irish Independent says: No definite opinion can be expressed until the text of the bill is before the public. On the points of police and finance the bill seems especially bad and justifies Mr. Parnell's account of his interview with Mr. Gladstone.

The comments of a score of leading provincial dailies show that the Unionists have no disposition to give the bill any quarter. The offices of the evening papers were besieged all yesterday afternoon with crowds of citizens eager to hear about the introduction of the new home rule bill. Every mention of Gladstone's name was the signal for enthusinstic cheers. Artisans, clergymen and citizens of every class vied with each other in their anxiety to secure copies of the newspapers, the supply of which was entirely inadequate. Gladstone's speech was eagearly discussed at the clubs and in the streets. A heavy rain did not in the least modify the exuberant enthusiasm of the citizens of home rule faith.

WELSOR MUST HANG. Day of Execution.

The Supreme Court at Jefferson City to-day The Supreme Court at Jessesson City to-day confirmed the finding of the St. Louis Criminal Court, in the case of Samuel Welsor, who was convicted of murder in the first degree for killing his mistress, Clementine Manning, on Aug. 4, 1899, and fixed the date of execution at March 29. The murder was committed at 1014 walnut street. Welsor was a barkeeper. The Manning woman had drawn a prize in the lottery, and Welsor wanted to get some of the mone. She refused and he shot her. The news threw Welsor into a very sullen mood.

The Ex-Governor May Be Secretary of Agriculture,

SENATOR VEST VISITS LAKEWOOD IN HIS INTEREST.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 14. - The Francis

Cabinet boom is attracting more attention among Missourians here to-day than it ever The visit yesterday of Senator to Lakewood, in the interest of Vest to Lakewood, in the interest of Francis, has made many Missourians believe that the ex-Governor has a good chance of becoming Secretary of Agriculture. That is now the only position in the Cabinet that is not practically disposed of. It is known that Vest, who, since his posttion in favor of the repeal of the Sher-man act is very solid with the President-elect, makes a very strong appeal for Francis. Vest said that Francis was especially qualified for the Secretaryship of Agriculture, as the ex-Governor's experience as a commission merchant gave him a knowledge of the agricultural interests of the country, which could be used to great practical advantage in the Agricultural Department.

While Cleveland gave no promise, he spoke in a most friendly manner of Francis, but said he would like him still better if he was a native-born Missourian. The statement was also made here to-day that President Cleveland had stated to Dor M. Dickinson and Joe Rickey that he would appoint ex-Governor Francis Secretary of Agriculture, providing the latter secured the in-dorsement of National Committee man Charles Maffitt of Missouri and Dick Dalton of that State who is also asking a federal appointment. It is not thought however, that Mr. Cleveland would make an appointment subject to such endorsement.

Ex-Congressman Carlos French of Connecticut has been offered the navy portfolio. Mr. French succeeded the late Wm. Barnum as the Democratic leader Connecticut, and is a member of the National Committee. He was one of Mr. Whitney's chief lieutenants at Chicago during the convention. He is very wealthy, and is possessed of very fine business ability. He is familiar with the requirements of the navy, as he was a member of the Naval Com-

The rumor of ex-Gov. Francis' appointment was also on the street here and on 'Change. It was said that his brother, Sid, had received a telegram concerning the appointment, and was hunting the ex-Governor to learn whether the latter would accept. Ex-Gov. Francis was seen at the office of the Merchants' Bridge and Temminal Co. this afternoon by a Post-Disfarch reporter, and said he had received no notification of his appointment as Secretary of Agriculture. pointment as Secretary of Agriculture.

"Did you know that your name had been mentioned for the place or that your appointment was contemplated?"
"I must decline to talk to you about it at all. Just say that, when asked about the matter, I said I had not been notified and could not discuss it."

Col. Dick Dalton, who is in St. Louis today, said he knew nothing of the story and that it must all be a joke, as Mr. Cleveland would not be apt to ask the indorsement of Mr. Mamitt and himself to such an appointment.

DEMOCRATS WILL PROTEST. New York, Feb. 14.-The Democrats ar angry. To say they are disappointed in the selections made by President-elect Cleveland for his Cabinet does not express their feelings. Most of them are doing very little talking except among them selves and private opinions are such selves and private opinions are such in many instances as would not bear publication. A number of members of Congress this afternoon expressed dissatisfaction with the reported selections for the next Cabinet. The choice which annoys them most is that of Juage Gresham. They all say they have the greatest admiration and respect for Gresham personally and there was not one member of either House who would not admit that Juage Gresham would make a good Secretary of State; but they uttered bitter denunciations of Mr. Cleveland for selecting a man for his premier, who, only a short time ago, went to the trouble of writing out an interview declaring he was a Republican and only voted with the Democrats on the tariff issue. The feeling against Juage Gresham is so pronounced as to indicate that a strong protest will be made to the President-elect within the coming week. I am told there is a movement on foot looking to a combined attack upon Mr. Cleveland by the Democrats in Congress to urge upon him the advisability of reconsidering his invitation to Juage Gresham to enter the Cabinet. If what I hear be true, a protest will be made to day.

ALL DOUBT REMOVED.

ALL DOUBT REMOVED. CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 14.—All doubt was removed to-day that a Cabinet portfolio has been offered to Judge Gresham by President-elect Cleveland and will be accepted. Notelect Cleveland and will be accepted. Notwithstanding that Judge Gresham positively refuses to talk of the matter, it became known this afternoon through a mutual friend of his and United States District Attorney Milchrist that he has talked with the latter about the form of an acceptance of the appointment tendered him for the office of Secretary of State, and that along conference was had on the subject yesterday in Judge Gresham's chambers. It was said that Mr. Milchrist had been called by Judge Gresham in consultation as to the form of a letter of acceptance, and on this point alone. However Judge Gresham declined to break the silence he has maintained on the subject, and Mr. Milchrist also refused to talk. There is, however, no longer doubt that Judge Gresham has actually been tendered the portfolio and that he has consulted Mr. Milchrist on the matter.

Detectives Watching the Maniputation Railroads Make Discoveries.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—It is said that the Cleveland, Akron & Columbus Railroad Company for which a receiver was appointed two weeks ago by one Edward L. Mortimer on the ground of mismanagement, has established through correspondence and detectives a close connection between the would-be receiver and the young "Napoleon of Finence" "Herry & Ives. would-be receiver and the young "Napoleon of Finance," Henry S. Ives. Furthermore, the scheme of getting control of the road was a part of a much bigger deal with which Ives seems to be closely associated and in which his friends are openly playing a prominent part. Besides the Cleveland, Akron & Columbus two other railroads are on the programme and the method of getting hold of the latter is as unique as the attack on the Akron road. The two roads in question are the Cincinnati, Dayton & Ironton, and the Cincinnati, Dayton & Oheago companies, both of which are leased by the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton. They were unloaded upon the Hamilton & Dayton company during Ives' connection with the latter property.

ing Ives' connection whit the latter with crty.

Ives is said to be intimately associated with the Ohlo Southern, extending from Spring-field to Wellston, O., but that small road is too insignificant for one of Ives' pretensions. It practically begins nowhere and ends in the woods. But add to this the railroads named repractically begins nowhere and ends in the woods. But add to this the railroads named and great possibilities are opened up. The Cincinnati, Dayton & Ironton, extending 162 miles from Ironton to Dayton, affords a link in a through seaboard route. The Dayton & Chicago, extending ninety-five miles from Dayton to Delphos, with a franchise for a line into Fort Wayne, is quite a step toward a line into Chicago.

But these lines would not be complete without a feeder from the East and Northeast tapping the great railroads of the lakes and mining regions. Hence the plan to get control of the Cleveland, Akron & Columbus road which, although not owned by the Pennsylvania Railroad, gives that big company the only route from Cleveland to Columbus, Cincinnati and the Southwest. The loss of this link, the line of which extends 114 miles from Hudson to Columbus, would be a bad blow to the Pennsylvania company.

The annual report showed that, as compared with 1891, the gross earnings increased $55,190, but there is an increase of $395,092 in the expenses, so that the falling off in net earnings resulted. It is understood that the managers will meet Friday, when it is probable that the question of declaring a dividend out of the profits for 1892 will be discussed. It is not thought probable that the action of the board upon the proposition made by Mr. Thompson will be anything but adverse.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 14.—There is eason for believing that as far as the exec reason for believing that as far as the executive branch of the Government is concerned the negotiations for the annexation of Hawaii are about to be, if indeed they have not already been, concluded. The proposed meeting yesterday of the Secretary of State and the Hawaiian Commissioners did not take place owing to the fact that Secretary ratified, amended or rejected. In the presof the almost unanimous public sentiits assent promptly to the arrangement con be some amendments suggested in minor and non-essential details, but broadly speaking there seems to be no serious opposition to the principle of annexation.

The relations of the United States with other powers, growing out of the protectection of the interests of the United States and its citizens in the islands of the Pacific Ocean, has been the subject of considerable correspondence that will appear in the forthcoming volume of "Foreign Relations." some of this correspondence is particularly interesting at the present juncture of affairs. Mention has been made of the fact that at the time Capt. Davis of her majesty's ship Royalist hoisted the British flag over the Gilbert Islands, June II, 1892, his treatment of Mr. Adoleh Rick, the commercial agent of the United States at Butaritari, was such as to call forth a protest from Secretary Foster, which was fied with Lord Roseberry on the 18th of November last, by Mr. Henry White, Secretary of American Legation in London. From the correspondence it appears that Capt. Davis refused to recognize Mr. Rick as consular representative until he should be accredited to her majesty the Queen, and he demanded that the printed heading, "United States Consulate, Butaritari" should be erased from letters intrusted to him under the usual courtesy of forwarding home-bound mails by returning war vossels for transmission to the Department of State on the ground that it was not courteous.

"It is pleasant to note that Mr. Rick refused."

ment of State on the ground that it was not courteous.

It is pleasant to note that Mr. Rick refused to comply with the demand and that the letters were carried by Capt. Davis in the original form presented to him.

The correspondence also shows that Capt. Davis in a profane and unwarranted manner undertook to try A. J. Kustel, an American trader on the Island of Tarawa, for an alleged assault upon a native of the Island some months previous to the date of the raising of the British flag over the Islands.

Subsequently, under date of Dec. 9. Lord Rosebery informed Mr. White that the British authorities and officials in the vicinity of the Gilbert Islands had been instructed to recognize Mr. Rick as United States representative on the Gilbert Islands, and also expressed the regret of Her Bajesty's Government that Capt. Davis did send to Mr. Rick provisional recognition giving in the meantime the assurance that the rights and interests of United States citizens established in the Gilbert Islands would be fully recognized and respected by the British authorities.

This proceeding, the letter goes on to state, might have been passed over without notice but for the circumstance that it had been stated without contradiction in the British press of Australian colonies, that the subject of Mr. Hagenard's visit was to select the place for a British coaling station in Pago Pago harbor, and he had aliotted a piece of land with that design. The letter summarizes the various steps in the acquisition of the rights of the United States in the harbor of Pago Pago, which has been exclusive by express stipulations in the treaty of Jan. 17, 1878. Cooper of the Brooklyn contingent could continue to secure all the gold neces-sary to meet foreign shipments for some time not concluded when court adjourned yesterday, was again placed on the stand. Capt. Cooper testified that he saw O'Donnell twice on the day of the battle at Homestead between strikers and Pinkertons, once when the barges landed and again when the sur-render of the detectives occurred. He said O'Donnell promised him and his men pro-yet to come.

He said the financial world in New York was a unit for the repeal of the Sherman silver law, which they said would immediately put a stop to the export of gold. Secretary Foster held this conversation while walking from the Treasury to the White House to lay before the Cabinet meeting the result of his conference with New York bankers.

Senator Sherman (Rep.) of Onit to day reported back to the Senate from the Committee on Finance the amendment suggested by himself some days ago in reference to the issue of United States 8 per cant bonds. The committee has directed it to be effered to the sundry civil appropriation bill. No change is made in the amendment except to add at the end of it, to the words "for the purposes provided in said act" the words "and none other." O'Donnell promised him and his men protection if they would surrender.

Wm. Burt, who had charge of the Chicago contingent of the Pinkertons, testified that O'Donnell called out 'Don't land. If you come ashore every — of you will be killed."

Jos. Mailer, another Pinkerton man, testified that O'Donnell gave orders to men on the bank and replaced one man with a pistol with one who had a shotzun. He then came to the bank shotgun. He then came to the bank and called to Capt. Cooper that he wanted to talk with him. Cooper went inside, and O'Donnell called out with an oath that every man would be killed because they would not listen to him.

Deputy Sheriff Gray and a number of other witnesses were examined, but nothing new elicited.

DAMASCUS WAS KILLED.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 14.—The Murphy and Phillips factions, residing near Ulinton, over Red Mountain, had a small-sized war to-day. An old grudge existed and was into-day. An old gradge existed and was in-tensified when 'Ci ncinnatus Phillips married one of the Murphy girls some months ago. Yesterday old man Murphy and twelve of his brothers and sons went to Phillips' house to get the girl and take her home by force. In the fight that followed Damascus Phillips was fatally shot and Caleb and Cincinnatus Phillips badly beaten. Officers are after the Murphys, but no arrests have been made. They did not get the girl.

layor Noonan was elected four years ago by the vote of the breweries. This time, it is said he will lose it, and the rea-son is interesting. When the Mayor's friends gave him their complimentary banquet at the Southern Hotel last year, the brewers got invitations, but did not accept. It was said then that they had resolved to drop the Mayor and take up some other candidate. Later it understood that the Mayor's were making strong efforts estore him to the good of the brewers, but it they have struck a sunken influential of all the brewers is Adolphus Busch. Dr. Henry Mueller of the Insane Asylum is a connection of the Busch family by marriage, and Adolphus Busch has watched his rise in his ession with much interest and gratification. When Health Commissioner Brennan undertook to fill the offices at the asylam and Supt. Mueller, resenting the attempt, resisted, the Mayor sided with the Commissioner, and attempted to humiliate the superintendent.
Mr. Busch was said at that time to be highly incensed. In canvassing the brewers since he announced himself a candidate for renomination, Mayor Noonan discovered the attitude of Mr. Busch, and it is said, told one of his friends in his office afterward that he was afrair he would "have to do without Busch this time."

Ziegenhein Preparing to Withdraw.

The movement to nominate Henry Zeigen hein for Mayor is weakening all over the city, and the men who have been most active in working for him in the wards have relaxed their efforts, as if acting in concert. One of these is Deputy Collector Henry Twillman, who has been working among the A. P. A. lodges of North St. Louis to get support for Ziegenhein.

Dr. Emil Preetorius of the Westliche Post, who is said to be in the confidence of the Ziegenhein men, was quoted to day as having stated that the collector, looking over the field, had found that his business interests were too complicated to permit his making a campaign this spring and had decided to canvass for neither the Mayoraity nor the renomination for the Collectorship.

The Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The statement contained in yeur article of yesterday's lesue headed "Pocock against Walbridge" is without foundation. I wish most emphasically to deny it and brand it as a maicious falseheod, a pure and unadulterated fake and nothing more than a political trick, in the interest of whom I leave the public to judge. To the best of my knowledge there is no Walbridge ticket being made nor no combinations being formed. I am, as I have always been, for Cyrus P. When the meeting convenes in annual session tomorrow representatives from local committees will elect a Chairman and the General Grievance Committee will be made up of members of local committees and will at once proceed to business. The members of the committee who have arrived in St. Louis do not care to make public the place of meeting, claiming that they have important business to transact and do not care to be disturbed. It is generally understood that the switchmen are not satisfied with the salary they are being paid and when their schedule is presented to the general managers of the roads terminating in St. Louis it will call for an advance in wages. The switchmen are independent of other organized labor bodies, and are not anxious to make a fight against the railroads, but will endeavor to arrange for an amicable settlement. The meeting of the committee will commence to morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

CAPT. BAPIEFF'S FUSES.

The Testing Board and the Inventor Disagree as to Their Work. PORT ROYAL, S. C., Feb. 13.-The question of the efficiency of the Rapieff fuse is all im-portant on board the Vesuvius just now. The mooted question of whether the fuses with gun powder shells has not been settled. Capt. Rapieff stoutly maintains that in each instance the fuses have exploded. It is generally believed that the board on the other hand does not think that the fuse exploded. The question is, however, thrown into greater obscurity by an incident of to-day's work. The board took fitteen pounds of gunpowder lowered it ten fathoms below a buoy and had it exploded by electricity. There were no surface indications which could be seen at a distance equal to that occupied by the Wahneta in reference to shells fired Saturday. This will strengthen Capt. Rapieff's claim that all the fuses have proved efficient. To-morrow equal tests with high explosives will be made. Three shells will be loaded with four pounds of gun cotton each. A small charge is used to avoid any possible accident from premature explosion of the shells. instance the fuses have exploded. It is gen

The Anti-Option Bill Will Be Called Up in the House. WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 14.- The House today engaged again in filibustering over the limiting of debate on the invalid pension bill. Again the Democrats were obliged to yield to the Republicans' demand that six hours debate be accorded to the minority and it was at 3 o'clock. The House then resumed con-sideration of the pension bill, During the flibustering Mr. Hatch (Dem.)

of Missouri gave notice of the course which he would pursue in reference to the antioption bill. He said he had waited patiently for days in order that the consideration of the appropriation bills should be completed. But he now gave notice that unless the appropriation bills were disposed of in a reasonable time he would ask for the consideration of a measure which, being a revenue bill, had the right of way.

"To what bill do you refer?" was asked.

"To the anti-option bill, and I am frank to say so," replied Mr. Hatch, who, continuing, stated that if the pension appropriation bill were not passed this week it would have to fight against the measure which he was pressing.

Board of Public Improvements Recommendation-Other Matters. The Board of Public Improvements was to have met at the City Hall at 10 o'clock this morning to transact routine busiless and to consider matters relative ness and to consider matters relative to the opening and improvement of certain streets as advertised. Quite a number of citizens were on hand at that hour to present to the board their views for or against the proposed improvements, but owing to the fact that the board was one member short of a quorum the meeting was not called to order until nearly 12 o'clock. Commissioner Southard is said to be responsible for the delay, owing to a promise he made to Chairman Burnet, and failed to keep, to be present to day, on the strength of which promise Mr. Burnet was absent, and the meeting was postponed until a mossenger could be dispatched to his residence to request his attendance. promise Mr. Burnet was absent, and the meeting was postponed until a messenger could be dispatched to his residence to request his attendance.

A petition containing over 1000 signatures was presented to the Board, setting forth the fact that for a number of years the water-supply south of Lafayette avenue and east of the Compton Hill reservoir has been insumcient and that in the higher portions of this territory no water at all could be obtained at midday during the summer months. The board were requested to prepare such measures and recommend such ordinances as to insure this district a sumicient supply. A resolution from the House of Delegates was also presented in conjunction with the petition asking the board to take such action as should insure better water service in the Ninth, Eleventh and Twenty-third Wards. After some discussion the matter was referred to the Water Commissioner with the request that he have plans prepared as quickly as possible for the tower and the new pumping station at Baden, necessary before the district can be assured of perfect service, and submit the same to the board.

Owing to the absence of two members of the board matters in connection with the proposed opening of a number of streets were referred to the committee for a report, when all will be approved. Bids for the completion of the fourth floor and the roof of the new City Hall were received and opened. The lowest bidder was the Hoker Iron Co., whose estimate is si51,500. This bid is $62,000 less than the estimate presented by Architect S. R. Mann and adopted by the board. An ordinance for the reconstruction of Sixth street from Carr to O'Fallon streets was submitted to the board and referred to the council. Sprinkling bids which were rejected some two weeks ago, at the time of the general letting, as being higher than the previous year, were explained to the board in a manner which accounted for the apparent overcharge, and the commissioners were now willing to accept the proposals. Dr. Parkhurst's Detective Given Two Years at Hard Labor. New York, Feb. 16.—Charles W. Gardner, chief detective of Dr. Parkhurst's society sentenced to hard labor in prison for two years. He had been convicted of attempting to extort money from Tillie Clifton, keeper of a disorderly house. The sentence of Gardner was really a preliminary incident to one of greater interest in the court-room. Messrs. Gonf and Jerome, both ex-assistant attorne ys, had acted as counsel to Gardner. After Gardner was led away there was a dramatic scene enacted in the courtroom. Recorder Smyth requested Lawyers Goff and Jerome, who conducted Gardner's defense, to be seated as he had something to say to them. He told them that during the trial they were guilty of unbecoming conduct and he would at once proceed to investigate what punishment should be inflicted upon them.

gate what punishment should be initiated the upon them. "I had made up my mind," continued the Recorder, "not to interfere with the progress of the case at the time, as I had a proper right to do, but preferred to adopt the example of ex. Ohlef Justice Davis of the supreme Court, and at the close of the trial administer such punishment, as I have the privilege to do under the statutes, for what I consider you both guilty of, contempt of court."

administer such privilege to do under the statutes, for what I consider you both guilty of, contempt of court."

The Recorder recited the charges he would prefer against them, from a typewritten arindavit, and dwelt upon the insolent remarks of the counsel.

When the Recorder had finished Mr. Jerome arose and said he had closely followed the specifications and presented his sincere apology to the court. Here Lawyer Jerome broke down and tears rolled down his cheeks.

Mr. Goff then arose and relierated Mr. Jerome's apology. He said that he had not intended to be offensive to the Court. He asked for the privilege of counsel and requested that the matter be postponed. The Recorder said he would put the hearing down for next Monday and would serve each with a copy of the charges.

While this scene was taking place in the Recorder's Court, a lawyer named Moss rushed excitedly into Judge Andrews' court, in the Tweed Court-house near by, and excitedly and almost breathlessly moved for 'a certificate of reasonable doubt and a stay of sentence' for Gardner. Mr. Moss aroused further interest by declaring hastily that he did not know enough about the case to present it satisfactorily and that he only came because Recorder Smyth was holding Attorneys Goff and Jerome in court and thus preventing them from making their own motion. He further stated that the police officials were endeavoring to rush Gardner off to Sing Sing, Having heard the motion, Judge Andrews granted a stay until Friday next. The statement has been made that the police, stung by Dr. Parkhurst's charges against them, have sought to 'make a case' against Gardner and were in a hurry to get him behind the bars.

The Testimony Taken Before the Legislative Committee.

Every Witness Admits That the Wires Should Go Under Ground.

SENATOR SESREE UNABLE TO UNDER-STAND DURANT'S POSITION.

Manager Bohle Uses the Post-Dispatch Illustrations - Councilman Horton Tells the Committee That the City Has no Power to Compel the Companies to Put Their Wires Under Ground-He Announces Himself in Favor of the Stone Bill.

When the senatorial committee on the vire nuisance issue left Jefferson City last veek it had instructions to devote three lays to the taking of testimony bearing upon the advisability of the passage of the Stone bill. This was the third day, and the committeemen announced the determination to conclude its labors and adjourned finally this afternoon. A number of witnesses who had been summoned had not been called when the committee convened this morning, and it seemed that some of them would not have a chance to tell what they knew about the troublesome prehensive report of the testimony it has eard is not clear. It adopted the unusual course of dispensing with an official stenographer and there is no record whatever of what it has done. Senator Baskett is the member who has taken any-like full notes of the evithe others relying upon their memories and general impressions to enable them to tell the Senate what they know of the subject. Whether the memories of the opponents of the Stone bill will be the same as those of the members who favor the measure, is a question. All will have to admit, however, that the testimony has shown without doubt that the people of St. Louis favor the burying of the wires. All the witnesses questioned on that score have said that popular sentiment was largely in favor of the step. Senators Yeater and Baskett freely admitted this to-day.

Manager Bohle of the Western Union Telegraph Co. was sworn when the committee was called to order. He said that his wires were not dangerous in themselves, but when they came in contact with other more heavily charged wires they were likely to inflict injuries. He knew of one fatal case from electric wires. He said that he had experienced trouble in communicating with the office in chicago, owing to the effect of induction in the conduits in that city. He thought the wires could not be as well operated in conduits as overhead.

"How do a majority of the people stand on yet the said that he will be sufficiently as the conduits as overhead.

could not be as well operated in conduits as overhead.

"How do a majority of the people stand on this proposition to have the wires placed underground?" asked Senator Stephens.

"I think the non-taxpayers are generally in favor of it, but the taxpayers would be more likely to give the matter considerable thought, as the tearing up the streets is very costly, and the conduits might occasion a great deal of that work."

The witness said that the wires of the company he represented were most numerous at Broadway and Olive street, and to the admitted that one of their linemen had been killed at that point while repairing wires. The wires were strung in front of the buildings between the second and third stories.

Manager Bohle said that his company was not in favor of the Stone bill, because it was too broad. He attempted to show by the illustrations in the Post Dispatch of last Sunday that if the Stone bill were passed a large majority of the wires would remain above ground, but his demonstration fell flat because he had labored under the impression that the stone bill did not include the electric light wires.

He then said that the Western Union was that the stone bill did not include the electric light wires.

He then said that the Western Union was not averse to going under ground, but at the same time did not desire to do so. If any wires should be interred they should all be. The fatality from wires was not great enough to warrant the introduction of the conduit system, but that with other considerations formed sufficient reason for putting them below the surface.

Mr. Bohle admitted that there was a very general sentiment that the wires should be placed under ground.

general sentiment that the white should be placed under ground. He did not know of any pressure having been brought to bear by the pesent conduit company upon the Civ Council to prevent the Bell Telephone Co. from getting a franchise. He only knew of the existence of the subway company. He thought that if the wires were put under ground, as they are in other citles, it would increase the efficiency of the service—that is taking into consideration accidents from storms and other sources.

Manager Durant submitted to the Chairman the question as to whether a message could be sent as long a distance without a relay under ground as overhead. Chairman Yeater put the question and Mr. Bohle said there had never been a test of that because there were no conduits long enough.

and Mr. Bohle said there had never been a test of that because there were no conduits long enough.

Councilman Horton, Chairman of the Committee on the Bell Telephone Bill, was called, and testified that there was a general sentiment in St. Louis in favor of burying the wires. He thought the sentiment was due to the fact that the wires were in the way of the fire department, were considered to be dangerous and were unsightly.

Chairman Yeater asked if the Bell telephone had a bill Before the Council to grant it the privilege of going underground. Mr. Horton said that it had such a bill, but it had not been passed. Charles Sutter had appeared before the Council and argued against the Bell Telephone company's bill. Sutter did not oppose the Bell Telephone company's bill. Sutter did not oppose the Bell Telephone company soling under ground, but if it did go, he argued that they ought to use his conduit.

Mr. Horton was asked if the city had power to compel the companies to go underground, and said he din not believe the city had, but was convinced that the State had.

"Have you ever consulted the city's attorney about that?"

"No, but my impression is to that effect."

"No, but my impression is to that effect."

"In we discussed the matter and from what I have heard, I am satisfied that the city has not the power to compel the reform."

"That is generally the result of a strong pulsar santiment, but I don't think that is question would come up at the polls for ong time if the State declines to take tion."

"Are you in favor of the Stone bill?"

Mr. Horton was asked if Charles Sutter would favor an ordinance to compet the companies to use his conduits. He thought from Mr. Sutter's arguments before his commitree that that was what he wanted. "Then his reasons for opposing the Belt Telephone Co.'s bill were selfish reasons?" said Senator Sebree. "You must put your own construction on that."

"You must put your own construction on that."
"I shall de that," said the Senator. "I consider that they were selfish motives,"
The witness then explained that the Bell Telephone Co.'s bill was not mandatory. It was not to compel the company to go underground, but simply asked the privilege to go. The bill had been before his committee only a few weeks.
In shower to further questions Mr. Horton said that it all the companies were to ask the city to grant them permission to bury the wires and should show their good faith by agreeing to make the change within a given time the city would grant the permission. But the companies were not acting together. Some would go and others would not.

''If the State falls to pass a law to compet these people to go into conduits, do you think it probable that the city will ever pass a bill to that end?'' asked Chairman Yeater.

''I don't think that it ever will pass such a law,'' answered Mr. Horton.

The witness gave a Fistory of the bill presented by the Bell Telephone Co. two years ago asking permission to go under ground. He said it had been introduced in the Council just before the end of the season. The Council passed it, and it went to the House of Delegates, but was not passed for lack of time.

ground. He said it had been introduced in the Council passed it, and it went to the season. The Council passed it, and it went to the House of Delegates, but was not passed for lack of time.

The Bell Telephone Co. and the Postal Telegraph Co. were the only ones that had ever asked permission to bury their wires. There was considerable opposition to the measure on the part of the other companies.

Mr. Horton was here excused and Chairman Yeater stated that there were no more witnesses present. The Sergeant-at-arms was out after other witnesses though, and would bring them in in a short time. An adjournment was then ordered until 1:30 p. m.

TESTIMONY JESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

The examination of witnesses was continued yesterday afternoon until 5 o'clock. When the Post-Dispatch went to press Manager Durant was still being questioned.

Mr. Durant said that the only reason the company did not go under ground was that the city would not give it the right. They had been trying to get that right, but had met opposition. The witness thought that the opposition had ceased to exist, and that if let alone the company would get a franchise. He was asked if the wire nuisance would be abated if the Legislature would keep its hands off and said that the telephone wires would at least be put out of the way in that event. He did not think the wires were a serious obstruction to the fire department, and the accidents from them were not near so numerous as those from asphyxiation from illumifiating gas.

"Isn't if a fact that there is great jealousy among the wire companies and that this prevents them from going under ground?"

"No, we have a very good understanding with each other."

Manager Durant further testified that the St. Louis Underground Service Co. was a menace to the other companies, but that it had no exclusive franchise.

"Well," said Senator Sebree, "I wish I could find out something about this matter. You say you want to go under ground, and you would. You say again that you have the right to go, but you have only it and contended that no other franchise could be granted.

Senator Burks asked if the conduit company did not hold that no other franchise could be granted until they got all the patronage they wanted.

"That's just it," said the witness. "The prospectus of that company states that while the franchise is not exclusive, it is improbable that any other franchise will ever be granted until this sub-way is fully occupied.

"Let me ask you, Mr. Durant," said. Senator Yeate. "You say that this sub-way company stands in the way of your getting a franchise?"

"Yes, sir."

"And you want to get under ground, but you can't?"

"Yes."

"Well, wouldn't the Stone bill enable you to get under ground?"

'I don't know whether it would or not." Senator Stone asked permission to put a question to the witness and Senator Burks said: "I object."
"I only want to ask one question," said Senator Stone.
"I object to anybody except members of the committee asking the witnesses questions."

senator Yeater said that there was a cour-tesy usually observed among Senators; which might override that objection.
"No. I object," persisted Burks.
"Very well, then," said Senator Stone, "if any member of the committee objects I, of course, shall not insist." course, shall not insist and testified that the wires were a menace to life and a serious obstruction to the fire department.

Senator Burks began to question the witness as to the powers of the city to grant a franchise, and Chairman Yeater said that the witness was probably no authority on the legal aspects of the case.

"I propose," said Senator Burks, "to ask the witness what questions I wish." "Certainly," said the Chairman, "but I thought it would be better to get legal information from lawyers."

"I question a man for what he knows," said Burks, "and I know of no way of getting at what he knows except by asking him."

"Very well. I thought it would be better to get the law from a lawyer rather than from a tinner," said the Chairman.

The witness, hewever, failed to enlighten the committee on legal questions.

Charles Sutter, President of the St. Louis Underground Service Co., which owns the existing conduit, was net alled. He said that his company was cap, alled. He said that his company was cap, and lized at $1,000,000 and that the capital ock was all paid up in cash, Franchises and rights. It was incorporated under the law of Missouri and had compiled with the law in relation to incorporations and must therefore have paid up one-half of its capital before becoming a corporation. It had none continuous mile of conduit. It did not claim to have an exclusive franchise. The witness demanded to see the prospectus Mr. Durant had spoken of and Chairman Yeater asked the manager of the Bell Telephone Co. If he had any objection to producing it. Mr. Durant did object.

"Why are you opposed to the Bell Telephone bill?" the witness was asked.

"Why are you opposed to the Bell Tele-phone bill?" the witness was asked.

some effect, but I can't prevent the Bell Telephone Co. from getting what it wants."

Supt. Higgins of the City Fire Alarm Service testified that there was an almost universal sentiment in favor of putting the wires under ground. The presence of numerous wires interfered to some extent with his system. The breaking of the telephone wires would interfere with the fire alarm wires. A sleet storm might make the interference permanent; that is, it might continue for some time and prevent the Fire Department from receiving notice of fires. The witness was in favor of putting the wires of the fire alarm system underground to prevent them from being interfered with by other service. The placing of all the wires under ground would increase the efficiency of the wires of all the companies.

H. A. Wagner, superintendent of the Missouri Electric Light and Power Co., testified that the company's wires would kill. He knew of two fatal cases caused by wires of his company. There had been two other cases from wires of other lighting companies, making four deaths communication between the Atlantic and Pacific with a saving of 10,000 miles of navigation.

It is hardly worth while for me to undertake to estimate the advantages such a canal would bring us, with 10,000 miles of navigation saved; the terrible passage around the Cape of Good Hope in winter a thing of the past, opening the various ports of the United States, North and South, to direct communication with the Pacific ports. We can hardly overestimate the advantages to accrue to the ports of the Gulf States, and to the great cities of the North I believe the advantage will be equally great. Then consider the advantage to all parts of our own country in the saving of cost of transportation between California and the Atlantic States.

It is a settled fact that, notwithstanding the cost of railroad transportation in the United States has been reduced to such an enormous extent as compared with the cost in former years, still the railroad companies are more or less governed by water competition. Nothing can compete with water transportation. When you stand on the shores of Lake Huron and see the enormous amount of transportation going down and along the shores of that lake and through Lake St. Clair, as was first called specially to the attention of the people of this country by Secretary Windom in his New York speech, you can see that water transportation is of far more importance than railroad trans-in as many years. The Missouri Electric Light and Power Co. began about a year ago to prepare plans to go under ground, and filed its plan with the Board of Public Improvements. The company desired to go under ground. It had already put some of its wires in conduits in Lafayette and Benton place. These conduits are wooden, the wires being well insulated. Such conduits would cost about $10,000 a mile.

"Is the company in earnest in its sentiment that it wants to go under ground?" asked Senator Yeater. "I ask the question because it is claimed that some of these companies who say they want to go under ground really do not want to do it."

The ownpany is acting in good faith. It would prefer to go under ground."

The witness said that the general sentiment of the people was in favor of putting all the wires under ground. It could be done, but not without giving each company an independent subway. Mr. Wagner was not in favor of the Stone bill, so far as his company was concerned, because the city had power to regulate the placing of the wires and could grant franchises to bury them.

The witness was naked if he had any knowledge that the subway company had ever stood in the way of companies getting franchises for conduits, and replied that he had heard that it had, but did not know positively that such was the case. The placing of trolley wires underground was not mechanically nor electrically impracticable. It had been done. He knew of two roads that had been operated in that way. The question of drainage entered larkely into the practicability of the conduit system, although after all it was principally a matter of expense. It would take money to do it, but all the wires could undoubtedly be buried. The witness was unable to say whether in St. Louis the sewers were in such condition as to prevent the putting in of conduits. He said he knew little about the sewerage system of the city.

Mr. Parsons of St. Louis: Mr. President, I had not expected to open debate upon this question, and I am so strongly of the opinion that the consensus of judgment of this board will be in favor of the resolution submitted by the St. Louis Chamber, of Commerce that It hardly seems to me worth while to debate it at all.

by the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce that it hardly seems to me worth while to debate it at all.

As was said by Warner Miller, in a speech that he made on this subject in the convention at St. Louis, the subject of an open route between the north and south parts of this hemisphere has been an existing one from the time of Columbus. After Columbus had discovered the Island of Hispaniola he cruised to fine an opening to the East Indies, which was his original intention on his first voyage. Since that time it has been the constant dream of navigators until it was found that the Isthmus connected North and South America and that no such channel existed; and since then it has been for many, many years a constant subject of thought and desire among commercial men, and, indeed, all the people of the country, and of both North and south America, to have a canal, a railroad, or some other means of getting from the Atlantic to the Facific without making the long and tedious voyage around Cape Horn.

You all remember the survey that was made under the directions of Admiral Ammen, during the administration of President Grant. You also undoubtedly recollect the report that was made against the Panama Canal scheme by the United States delegates, and their opinion has been borne out by the result—its absolute failure. The Nicaragua Canal project was not adopted as recommended during Gen. Grant's administration. Directly afterwards the plan of Capt. Eads of St. Louis, a very eminent engineer, who constructed the celebrated St. Louis Bridge, the first one made in that manner in the world, I believe, and who superintended the constructed the celebrated St. Louis Bridge, the first one made in that manner in the world, I believe, and who superintended the construction of the jettles at the mouth of the Mississippi so as to make that channel of surficient depth for ships of large draught to pass through—directly afterwards, I say, Capt. Eads' scheme was to have a railroud constructed across the isthmus so that a steamer could be picked up and carried across from one ocean to the other. But that failed. Whether it was really feasible or not I cannot say; I never investigated it, but I always had grave doubts. I always doubted whether it was possible to take a ship 500 feet long out of the water, put it on a railroad and pass it over miles and miles or land. At any rate, upon the death of Capt. Eads that scheme went out. The only one I that now seems practicable is a channel or canal from one ocean to the other, probably by the Nicaragua route.

According to the report of engineers who have made careful examination, that is perfectly feasible. Their reports have been submitted to eminent engineers in the State of New York and elsewhere, among them the State Engineer of New York; and, after a careful and studious investigation covering all questions of expense and interest on bonds issued in the meantime, they have decided that about $87,000,000 is an ample sum to complete this grand canal which will open communication between the Atlantic and Pacific with a saving of 10,000 miles of navigation.

est. If this canal can be built with the indorsement of the government of the United States for $100,000,000 of bonds there can be no question that the enterprise will go forward and that the charges can be very much reduced as compared with what they would be if the enterprise is compelled to be prosecuted on a basis of $100,000,000 raised by private enterprise, with 6 per cent bonds, seiling perhaps at 10 per cent discount or more. seeing pernaps at 10 per cent discount or more.

And, gentlemen, in connection with this I control of the construction.

And, gentlemen, in connection with this I wish to pay a tribute to the officers of the United States army in the Engineer Corps. All of you who know what the action of the officers of our army has been in the past bear me out in saying that a more high-minded, more honest, more just class of officials does not exist anywhere. [Applause.] It has been my lot to be in such a position that I can testify to the interrity of these men, and therefore when it is proposed that the construction of this canal shall be submitted entirely to the control of the officers the construction of this canal shall be sub-mitted entirely to the control of the officers of the United States Army, I feel that that is a guarantee that the Government money will be safe; I have no fears of any Panama scan-da!; I have no fears that the Government or the people will lose anything.

Then, as the Government will have the con-trol, under the proposed bill, of a majority of the stock, as the Government will have control of the majority of the directors, and as the canal will be constructed by Govern-ment engineers, it seems to me that the in-terests of the United States will be thorough-ly protected. SAVED FROM POTTERS' FIELD. John Erennan's Brothers Claim His Body at the Hospital Dead-House. John Brennan, an ex-street car conductor, iled at St. John's Hospital on Sunday, after being there for two months with a complication of troubles. He had no money and only three persons called on him while sick. His brothers, who live in Chicago, were notified of his illness through one of these visitors of his illness through one of these visitors and he was told also to notify them of the death. This he said he would do and asked that the body be kept twenty-four hours, and if he was not heard from to let the city bury it. Accordingly yesterday afternoon it was taken in the city dead wagon to the City Hospital. Beyond this the sisters at the hospital knew nothing.

To-day the brothers turn up and want the body. Clerk Jacks of the Health Department told them where it was and how to get it, which will probably be done.

When asked to-day where the body was Clerk Jacks said: "At the City Hospital."

"Why is it there?"

"Waiting to get a load."

"Why is it there?"
"Waiting to get a load."
"Get a load, how?"
"Well you see as soon as there is a good wagon load of bodies there they are buried; that way it is cheaper, don't you see."
The brothers' have saved the remains from "waiting for a load" and will probably give it decent burial to-morrow.

THE HOME BULE BILL

The home rule bill which Mr. Gladstone has just presented in the House of Commons as the last public act of his long and honorable career is expected to meet the demands of the Irish people and cement the factions whose wranglings have so long delayed the work.

The essential feature of the bill is the establishment of an Irish Legislature or Parliament with authority subject to certain enumerated restrictions in matters which shall be retained by the Imperial Parliament at Westminster. These relate to the succession to the crown, the making of war and peace, the control of the army and navy, foreign relations, currency, weights and measures and other purely imperial subjects.

In preparing this bill Mr. Gladstone has had to reckon with some of the strongest and least flexible traditions of the British people. He has been unable to take the direct course and proceed upon an abstract theory of government. the contrary he has adapted himself to practical conditions and done the best he could as a practical statesman. A thousand and one details and onflicting practices have entered into the problem, and this bill does no more than offer a partial solution of a very perplexing difficulty. But it is a step forward and brings the Irish people a little nearer the liberty they crave.

The measure affords an opportunity to ompare the English and American systems. In America a free people delegate certain powers, clearly defined, to the General Government. In Great Britain the Crown grants certain liberties to the people, whose freedom, formally at least, is limited by the will of the Government. This contrast is particularly striking in this Irish legislation, which is a distinct declaration that the grants to the people are privileges which may be resumed. This is probably the most serious Freedom wins its way by hard knocks in the face of a theory which is the summing up of a thousand years of practice. But to set this aside in the case of Ireland would commit Mr. Gladstone to a similar policy with reference to England and Scotland, a decades, perhaps for centuries.

THE CONVICT'S PLEA.

The letter of a convict, which slipped out of the walls of the State Penitentiary and lappeared in the Post-Dispatch, embodies not only an excellent argument against the employment of prisoners on public works, but a moving plea in behalf of the great reform in the treatment of convicts and their dependents urged by the POST-DISPATCH and recommended to the Legislature in the final message o Gov. Francis. The pith of the letter on these points is contained in the following

The contract system which is in operatio is, I expect, the best the State can do with our class. If they put us to work outside some of the worst and least sensible would that it might result dangerously to many of is who were in no way to blame. I have heard repeatedly that the State only gets about 50 cents per day for each hand hired. This is too little, and I think when a man seeing of a foreman of the contractors and s have a little of his earnings, if not for him self, at least for his family or kin on the out side who are in no way to blame for his going wrong. If the State would charge more for our work they could set aside a few cents each day to give us when our times are out or turn it over to our families. The utterance of this convict is valuable as showing the attitude of many of his class on the subject. They have committed crimes, but they are not wholy depraved. In many instances the crimes were committed under the impulse of sudden passion or the influence of irresistible temptation. Few are irredeemably bad and to subject those with any good in them to the hardships of slave labor, to cut them off from all avenues of reform and with indiscriminate cruelty to inflict worse punishment upon the innocent than the guilty is to drive them to hardened recklessness and resentment and possibly to drive others to crime. Can there be any so ignorant of human nature as to fail to see that to put hope in the heart and to admit the motive of love and care for others in the labor of the lowest criminal is to bring into his life beneficent, elevating, reforming element? sion rolls indicate that he had a great deal It is not alone charity, but the highest

CALL A HALT.

The cartoon printed in the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH representing Forest Park as it will be in five years, is a fair warning of the possible result of the present inclina tion of the municipal authorities to yield to the pressure of business interests in the matter of using the park.

The appearance of the park now approximates the appearance given it in the cut, where it is represented as cut up by steam and street railroads and dotted with depots, sheds, stables, restaurants and saloons. While facilities for getting to and from the park and necessary conveniences for securing comfort and helter within it should be provided, it is easy to pass the limit of propriety in granting park privileges and thus destroy ts most delightful character as a place of resort where the people of the city may find in the green sward, trees and pure air of undisturbed and undefiled nature pleasant relief from the noise, bustle, sights, smoke, dust and dangers of the city life.

The park is now a noble and invaluable ion of St. Louisans, one that they will value more and more as the city grows and the country becomes more distant. They should vigilantly guard it and vigorously resist all encroachments upon its natural beauties and charms. Its quiet and safety must be preserved. The construction of a belt line around the park would afford easy access to every part of it and to every line touching it. No further privileges inside the park should be granted. Our park space has been gradually diminishing under the demands of alleged public needs. What we have left should he kent consecrated in its oristine character to the use of the people.

THE Whisky Trust investigation, from which so much was expected, is not bearng much fruit. The blight of corporation nfluence seems to have fallen upon the ommittee and questioning is stopped just when it begins to get interesting. The conspiracy to blow up the Shufeldt disillery ought to be thoroughly exposed, for the people are more curious about that ittle plutocratic incident than in anything ise connected with the Trust. But owing o the courtesy which obtains among gentlemen disagreeable questions touching the subject are not asked and the information is not given. It is the same sort of influence which has paralyzed so many Grand-jury investigations here in St.

To say that the resolution of the Board f Trade asking that the headquarters of the Mississippi River Commission be removed from New York to this city is easonable is not a fair way of putting it. To locate the headquarters of that commission in New York is such a foolish thing that the request to change hem to the metropolis of the Mississippi Valley is a mere expression of the dictates of good sense. Having the work of improving the Mississippi River directed from New York is about as sane a thing es having the Improvement of New York policy which could not be worked out for harbor directed from St. Louis. Our representatives in Congress should have this matter righted as soon as possible.

> A LAW in the statute books which is continually violated with impunity is a menace to all other laws and to the good of the community. It is a recognition of this fact that has led to the introduction of a bill in the New York Legislature permitting the opening of city saloons after 1 o'clock on Sunday. The measure has the support of some of the wisest temperance and church leaders as a fair concession to popular demand and a matter of sound policy. Missouri Legislators should give this subject thoughtful consideration in view of the situation in this city.

The Underground Wire Committee is getting at the truth of the wire situation despite the work of the corporations. Even the opponents of the Stone bill are forced to admit that it is practicable and advantageous to put the wires underground and that overhead wires are dangerous to public safely and an intolerable nuisance. Corporation trickery, to avoid being forced to bury the wires, is the only thing that stands in the way of needed legislative action.

Many housekeepers hope that the Nationa Association of Builders will pass a stirring resolution against the construction of any more smoky flues. Hearts vs. Court-Martial. To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: On the second column of page 2 of your paper of the 7th inst. under the heading, "Won't Try Taylor" you quote from Detroit, Mich., as follows: "The general court-mar-tial on Capt. Have they ever asked themselves, or inquired, why she is not to-day as pure as the day she was born? Perhaps at one time she may have had no alternative between starvation, suicide and temptation, and like many others, unfortunately against her will, but by force of circumstances, chose the latter, having no other choice but death. I know some good people will say she should have preferred death even at her own hands. Yes, but let these so-called good Samaritans remember how sweet life is, and that self-destruction is a crime against humanity and God—and let me recall to them the action of our Savior when he met Magdalene.

Is she never to be tolerated in the company of many who are but wolves in sheep's clothing and who stand high in society (?)? For shame! It's such Christianity which makes heathens.

An Independent Pleased.

To the Editor of the Post- Dispatch: The news of the appointment of Judge Gresham to the Cabinet as Secretary of State will prove a source of joy to all progressive crats with modern ideas, as well as to obmodrats with modern users, as well as to ill independents who last year cast their rotes for Grover Cleveland. We voted for the right man for President of the United States, and if the Democratic Congress fol-lows the leadership of the exaited chief, we may rest assured that the many diffiaid the cream of American statesmen as his advisers and helpmates; the calling of Carlisle and Gresham proves this knowledge of his responsibility. Not only the question of tariff reform, but the no less important one of finances—closely allied with tariff reform—call for the most prudent and careful consideration of the Executive as well as Congress. Wild-cat schemes of demagogues must be regulated to the rear to avoid a financial crash. Let us not forget that Cleveland left the Presidential chair with a surplus of $100,000,000, and on his return finds a depleted treasury, with the vaults full of silver doilars, each 65 cents in value, and an enormous amount of Sherman notes floating about, shaking the solidity of our finances. The popular cry against the "crime of capital" is aimost insanity, for when our financial affairs are shaky, and the money is withdrawn from fear of a panic, the working classes are the first to suffer, as they would be driven out by a closing of our factories.

But not alone in this must we follow Cleve-

Ing classes are the mist of controls.

But not alone in this must we follow Cleveland's leadership. The political heavens in Europe and South America are dark and portending war. How far we will be mixed up in them, we cannot just now tell, but as a commercial fiation we will be "touched." The bastard Americans in the Senate have just ratified a treaty of extradition with that representative of tyranny, Russia. The Nicaraugua Canal (perhaps the Panama enterprise even) will create complications with Great Britain and France, as we cannot go back on our own and now sickly child, the Monre doctrine. The South American republics are revolutionizing lustily again. And here we have Gresham, the great and talented jurist, to do our "writing" for us. Verlly, Gresham as lieutenant, Carlisle as purser and Cleveland at the helm, our ship of state will pass gallantly through the breakers during the next four years.

About Mossbacks.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: Allow me to compliment the Builders' Exchange on the activity they took on Saturday in the street reconstruction bill now pending. St. Louis now owes her present prosperity to the finely paved down town streets. Let us complete the good work. The more of this work that is done the cheaper the work will get, in spite of contractors' rings. Let speculators sell or improve many of the sink-holes they are now holding at the expense of others. St. Louis is not the city it was twenty-five years ago. The mossbacks and firebacks of olden times who, if they invested a dollar to-day, would want $2$ to-morrow for, it are fast disappearing. We also have some men putting a large number of cheap houses in the city and selling them at fabulous prices on time payment, buildings that should be inspected, but are not, notwithstanding we have a large number of building inspectors employed by the city. These are some of the men opposed to the street improvement. We want a few more funerals and St. Louis will advance. change on the activity they took on Satur

HOBBS SAVES HIS SALARY. The meeting of the House Committee on Omcial Fees and Salaries last evening was one of the most exciting of the session. session opened with the Jackson County fee grab discussion and was getting ready for a rest when Robyn's bill reducing the salaries of Recorders of bill reducing the salaries of Recorders of Deeds was referred. Representative Robyn lives in the Twenty-sixth Ward in St. Louis and is the Republican member of the City Central Committee from that section. Some time ago he had a failing out with Hobbs and since his election to the Legislature he has been heard to make threats of getting even. When the committee met last evening the first order was the bill regulating Recorders of Deeds, so framed as to prohibit any official from drawhig over $3,000 per year. Recorder Hobbs, who draws $4,000 per year. Recorder Hobbs, who draws $4,000 per year, was on hand, and so was Representative Robyn. The author of the bill urged a delay, that other withesses might be called, but Julius Wurzburger, the only Republican on the committee, objected.—He wanted the matter disposed of at once and his language plainly conveyed the impression that his sympathies were not with Robyn. Chairman Killam's presence of mind alone prevented a scene while the meeting was in progress. After Robyn had been refused the request to lay the bill over, Recorder of Deeds Hobbs was invited to make a statement and he handled Robyn without gloves. He said that the member who introduced the bill did not represent the wishes of the people.

"He is simply trying to wash dirty linen who introduced the bill did not represent the wishes of the people.

"He is simply trying to wash dirly linen before this committee and nothing else," said Hobbs, hotly. "Let no one be deceived by his alleged reform movement. He has a grievance and ne is attempting to punish me with the assistance of a Democratic Legislature and a Democratic Committee."

Hobbs spoke nearly an hour. Among other things he said that Robyn had introduced the measure because the Recorder and his friends had opposed his election to the Republican City Central Committee.

"Now. gentlemen," said Hobbs, "If St. Louis ward fights are to be considered seriously I will simply retire and say nothing further." Hobbs was excited and looked daggers at Robyn.

ously lwill simply retire and say nothing further." Hobbs was excited and looked daggers at Robyn.

Robyn then grew warm, jumped out of his chair jand said the statement he aimed the bill at Hobbs was a lie.

Chairman Killam rapped for order, but Robyn was not so easily checked. He spoke loudly and earnestly to sustain his denial of the charge of spite work made by Hobbs.

Hobbs said Robyn had openly stated that he would introduce a bill that would "fix" Hobbs.

In reply Robyn, who looked indignant snough to fight, said that his language had been misconstrued. He admitted making the statement that he had a bill that would compel Hobbs to make another visit to Jefferson City, but denied that there was any malice in anything he had said or had done. He in anything he had said or had done. He then tried to bring up some of the Twenty-sixth Ward troubles, but Chairman Killain sixth Ward troubles, but Unairman Amain objected.

"Gentlemen," he said, "most of us are from the country, where harmony abides and discord rarely enters. Let'us hear nothing of your troubles in St. Louis."

Julius Wurzburger spoke next, and, like Hobbs, he handled Robyn roughly. He said the bill was not intended to reform anything, but simply to deprive Hobbs of 25 per cent of his salary. Another representative followed with a speech in favor of letting the salary of the St. Louis Recorder remain as it is now fixed by statute.

the St. Louis Recorder remain as it is now fixed by statute.

In executive session the committee decided to recomment the bill for passage with several amendments. These leave the St. Louis office out entirely and provide that no salaries shall be reduced during the terms of the present incumbents. The committee took the view that St. Louis could regulate the Recorder's office and that the holder of the office was entitled to $4,000 per year, which is the statutory limit. A St. Louis member suggested that the salary instead of being reduced to $5,000 ought to be increased to $5,000, but the committee ignored his recommendation.

the third and last opinion is that it is cholera.

"My opinion is that the disease is cholera.

"Eight deaths from cholera occurred yesterday and to-day, but none of them were new cases. A patient I saw yesterday seriously ill died this morning. There are no new cases since noon of the 10th inst., and no fresh cases reported in the town to-day. The statistics show that from the beginning of the outbreak there have been thirty cases, twenty-four men and six women. The deaths have numbered fifteen—exactly to percent. The absence of any new cases for the lastiforty-eight hours confirms my opinions as to the falling off of the outbreak, which is not likely to return in a violent, offensive form. As far as possible to prophecy, Marsellies seems to be in no danger of an epidemic for the present. I say for the present because there is evidence of the existence of permanent germs, and during the summer if any condition should arise which would increase their activity or diminish the power of resistance on the part of the population, cholera would break out again with an intensity in proportion to that of the conditions which caused it."

Louis during the same period amount approximately to $7,698,000 in the prosecution of unisdemeanors, making a total expenditure for the past ten years of $10,284,000.

To cut down costs, the committee recommends that laws be enacted to prevent unnecessary continuances, to destroy the bringing of petty and maliclous prosecutions, the summoning of unnecessary witnesses, to shorten the time allowed defendants for challenging jurors, to limit costs incurred in preliminary hearings, amending the law so that appellate courts cannot reverse cases for mere technical errors and the immediate repeal of the present change of venue law.

The committee's report referring to the St. Louis courts states that a law applying only to that city authorizes the clerks of the Criminal Court and Court of Criminal Correction to issue separate subpenas for each witness in a cause, and to swear each witness rection to issue separate subpænas for each witness in a cause, and to swear each witness every day he attends court, receiving 20 cents per day for each witness sworn. This svery day he attends court, receiving 20 cents per day for each witness sworn. This system the report says runs up an enormous unnecessary expense. The report also recommends that the city of St. Louis be compelled to pay the fees of witnesses in attendance on the Grand-jury there, as all the counties in the State have to do with the witnesses who appear before their Grand-juries. In St. Louis the State at present pays these fees, amounting, the report states, to thousands of dollars annually. The report also states that the Criminal Court of St. Louis has an unnecessary number of jurors in attendance at the State's expense. It is further alleged in the report that the sheriffs and marshals of large cities make an unnecessary number of trips with prisoners to the penitentiary. It is further complained that all unclaimed witness fees in St. Louis go to the city and in the outside counties to the county, though the State has to pay all these fees.

Jackson County (Kansas City) constables and justices also fail in for their share of the county, though the State has to pay all these fees.

Jackson County (Kansas City) constables and justices also fail in for their share of criticism. It is held that by bringing cases on frivolous and imaginary charges and subponaing unneccessary and imaginary witnesses the justices of that county make more money than judges on the State Supreme bench and the constables more than Governors of the State. It is also held that for keeping prisoners in jail in that county the marshal gets an enormous sum for their broad and the elert slarge fees for making out the cost bills. It is recommended by the report that laws be enacted to stop these abuses. R. W. Prigmore and George W. Trigg served on the committee with Chairman Hawkins.

It is a pardonable thing to covet good looks. PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM gives in-creased growth, richness and wealth to the

The reading of Mr. F. Hopkinson Smith last evening at the Pickwick Theater was in every respect a most gratifying success. In spite of the unfavorable weather the house every respect a most gratifying success. In spite of the unfavorable weather the house was filled above and below by a fashionable and cultured audience, such as might well fiater any speaker. Mr. Smith—who was introduced by Mr. Thomas Dimmock—read for two hours selections from his own writings; and, judging from the close attention given from beginning to end, might have continued another without exhausting the interest of those who listened. He is not only a fine reader, but has what many fine readers have not—a deal of personal magnetism, which goes a long way on platform or in pulpit.

The net proceeds of the entertainment—about $400—go to the Central Mission, corner of Eleventh and Locust streets, a most worthy charity, under the patronage and management of Mrs. Judge Boyle, Mrs. Judge Adams, Mrs. Dr. Prewitt, Mrs. E. W. Hodgman and Mrs. Sproule. It is a Sunday-school and sevening school for poor children—girls, principally, though boys are not excluded. Regun eight years ago, with a dozen children, there are now nearly 500, who meet regularly every Saturday and Sunday. Each garment or other article is given to the child who makes it. Money is always needed for such benevolent work, and the $400 realized last night will be a most welcome reinforcement to the treasury of the Central Mission.

MUSICALE AT ST. DE CHANTAL

A Very Excellent Programme Rendered

The music pupils of St. de Chantel gave recital to-day in which they were assisted by programme was carefully managed and well prepared. Among the plano numbers were noticeably the "Sonata Pathetique" played by Miss Patty Buchanan, who reflected credit upon her teacher by her careful interby Miss Patty Buchanan, who reflected credit upon her teacher by her careful interpretation of the great work, which showed to advantage her rich touch and fine technique. Miss Regina O'lirien played Weber's charming Misplantae." Miss Maguire, a bright selection from Spindler, and Miss Hogan, Rive-King's "Bubbling Spring," with a taste and execution which promise much for her musical future. Miss Mamie Cahill gave a selection on the mandolin of "Old Melodies," which was very pleasing. Among the vocal selections Protheroe's "Sweet Voiced Bell," a solo by Miss Ida McGrath, with a bright refrain in full chorus by the class, was very well sung. The class recitation, "Blue Bell Wood," in which Misses M. Norris, I. Blakely, G. McGinnis, I. Scott, C. Cunningham and A. Martin took part, was rendered with graceful motion and animation. Miss Grace Little's "Mother's Clock" was very pathetic, and little Geraidine McGinnis showed considerable power of imitation in "Reading the News." Little isabel Scott's "High and Low" was very prettily given, as was also Miss Margaret Norris" "Hanging the Stocking," and "Gullty or not Gullty" by Bessle Norris, Miss Catherine Cunningham recited "Kate Shelley" with pathos and grace, Miss Hogan read an essay on "Baconian Shakspeare" which was well written and delivered.

A FLOUR TRUST.

Reported Combination Among the Spring Wheat Millers.

It is reported that a combination of the millers of the Northwest is on foot, the object being to form a flour trust. The cause of the being to form a flour trust. The cause of the combination, which, it is believed, is not to be fully organized until after the next harvest, is the probability of the passage of the anti-option bill. This would shut out trading in futures, and leave millers the only large buyers in the market. It was reported that some of the large St. Louis mills were in the deal, but nothing is known of this by local millers, and the rumor is probably unfounded, as the alleged combine is among the spring wheat millers, and no spring wheat is milled in this city.

BUSINESS BARCAINS.

The Market is Growing Stronger Daily. Prices are Advancing. Now is the Time to Buy Property. $20,000-Easy Terms.

An exceptionally choice piece of property, fronting 72 feet on both Lucas pl. and St. Charles st., and only 28 feet from the corner; this is one of the largest and finest manufacturing sites on this new and promising business street; we can sell the ground at a bargain, not considering the improvements, which consist of a large three-story stone front of 15 rooms; No. 2207 Lucas place; we can make easy payments. This is the bed-rock figure, and is a big bargain at the price.

HAMMETT-ANDERSON-WADE, 213 N. 8th st.

Lucas Av. For $12,500, possibly a little less, and on easy terms, we can sell a choice plece of property in the future business territory; will be very desirable for manufacturing and ware-house purposes, and will increase in value. The ground is improved with three two-story brick houses—811, 18114 and 1813.

—all in first-class condition. Rents are $350 per year, with the property and make us an offer.

And Discovered That He Had an Extra Wife in the Land of the Living. GUTHRIE, O. T., Feb. 14.—John H. Morri-son, living near here, has filed a petition for a divorce from his wife. He alleges that h was married to her in York, Pa., in 1866 and gave Wan 1873 he came West. In 1875 he received rd from his wife's parents that she wa ead. He paid the funeral expenses an dead. He paid the funeral expenses and agreed to let the parents keep the two children. In 1877 Morrison married Miss Mary Fisher of St. Joseph, Mo., and in 1889 he moved to Oklahoma. Several weeks ago Morrison met an old schoolmate in Oklahoma, and talking over old times, Morrison learned that his first wife was still alive and married to the rival of his youth and his children were also married. The report of the wife's death was a ruse on the part of the parents. Hence the suit for divorce,

How Youngsters Are Chosen for the Coming Season.

REASON WHY BASE BALL TEAMS GO SOUTH IN SPRING.

List of Aspiring Pitchers Engaged to the League Clubs-Croker and Dwyer Have More Turf Schemes-Track and Stable Gossip-Baptiste After Luttbeg-The Gun-Sporting News.

"The prime object of the Southern trip in the spring time," said President Buckenberger of the Pittsburg club to that eminent all round authority Col. Pringle, "is to experinent with the young pitchers. During the winter the clubs pick up a string of reputed crack-a-jacks or "phenoms," as they are dubbed on the diamond, then when the warm weather comes we take them South and test them. Some clubs don't and try the costly experiment of putting untried men in the box during the championship season. I don't believe in that. Exhibition games are the proper medium for experiments. After the Southern trip is over a manager can tell pretty accurately just what material is available and ount of reliance he can place on it.

"It is very difficult to judge the qualities of pitchers at times. We came very near letting Terry go last season. After he had been our team awhile he became sick and Burns thought that he was done for as a pitcher. I was ordered to make out Terry's release and hand it to him. I wrote out the release, but kept it in my pocket until I had a conversation with Mr. Temple on the matter. He told me to tear it up, which I did. When the team got home Burns was released and 1 told Terry to take a rest. After resting awhile he became all right again, and we all know what brilliant work he did. I mention this to show how easy it is for people to be mistaken about pitchers."

The President pointed out that it is more mistaken about pitchers."

The President pointed out that it is more dimcuit now to secure good young players from minor leagues than it ever was. All the prominent youngsters are on the list of one club or another. Even if the clubs on whose lists these young players' names are cannot make terms with them other League clubs cannot negetiate with them until given permission by the clubs that have these players on their list. It will be interesting to note the lists of young players that are at present claimed by the various clubs:

Pittsburg—Cargo, Stenzel and Whitehill. St. Louis—McGrillis, Barnett and Dolan. New York—McQuaid. Louisville—Breckenridge and Farrell. Cleveland—Hastings, Williams, Schellerman and Boyd. Baltimore—Motz, Boland, Wadsworth, Baker, McNabb and Tredway. Chicago—McGinnis, Lange and Manck. Cincinnati—Jones, McCann, Daniels, Daub and Jud Smith. Boston—Lake. Philadelphia—Darby. Washington—Killeen, Weddige, Shannon, Gettenger, Joe Sullivan and James Sullivan.

Under present League arrangements no club can approach any of these players except the clubs that have them on the list. This understanding holds good whether the players are signed or not. This enables terms to be made with the players suitable to the clubs. It can, therefore, be plainly seen how difficult it is for managers to get hold of really good "young blood."

THE TURF.

NEW OBLEANS, Feb. 14 .- Richard Croker, the Tammany sachem, is in town for Mardi Gras. He admits that he owns Yorkville Belle, Fairy, Red Banner and Dobbins, which quartet cost him $29,600. Matt Allen will train and John Lamley will ride for Mr. Croker, whose racing colors will be Yale blue jacket and blue cap with gold tassel. Mr. Croker says he is interested in the turf for the health it gives him. He and Mike Dwyer are behind the parties in the new Ivy City track, and may also establish a winter track at Hot Springs, Ark. They are also said to have racing designs on Baltimore (Pimilco), and may join hands with Wiman and Ed Corrigan in the Staten Island racing project.

If so, the latter will be assigned dates when the Ives law is amended, the Board of Control strengthened and the Corrigan lawsuit settled. Thus several big racing schemes are involved and, in the meantime, Mr. Croker would if he could add a crack Western 5. year-old or two, like King Lee or Helen Nicholls or Gov. Fifer to his stable. Flora May was an odds-on first choice, while the other two also carried considerable money. Normie, at 2 to 1 and 5 to 2, won the opening scramble, in which Harka was backed down from 2 to 1 to 7 to 10, by two lengths, easily. Frank Phillips at 3 to 1 was successful in the second race by half a length, driving, from Voltaire. Germanic at 6 to 1 won the third race by half a length, driving, from Abe Halstead. Barthol at 7 to 5 and 4 to 5 ran unplaced. Van Zant at 5 to 2 won the Lincoln handicap well in hand by one and one-half lengths, and Frank Trimble was successful in the closing dash, ridden out, by one-half a length. Frank was quoted at 5 to 2 and 2 to 1.

Jim Corbett's now talking about giving Sullivan the preference over Mitchell or Jackson for a fight with hiusell. This does not appear to be the right way for a champion to act when he has been challenged by a man who has backed his challenge by putting up a forfeit of $2,500. Jim should give Jackson a definite answer.

ECHOES FROM NAMEOKI. Charley and Johnny Daly, Harry Sharpe, Dan Cusick and Billy Zacinitz returned from Edwardsville, Ill., yesterday, having furnished bond for their appearance at the March term of the County Court to answer to a charge of being parties to a prize fight. Bob Farrell was also released on Charles Daily's affidavit that he was not present at proceedings of Nameoki.

In the meanwhile there is no cessation of excitement at Nameoki, Residents thereabouts, who have watched the proceedings with great interest, are now quaking in their boots, as the law covers their case to the extent of a $500 fine or a year's imprisonment.

One cause given for Sheriff Holz's activity is the accusation made that the fight took place on his farm. He is attempting to vindicate himself by a vigorous prosecution. The fight took place on the land of Squire John Broden, which is under lease to Postmaster Christ Kunneman. This latter gentleman protests that he did not know for what purpose the grounds were to be used, and sars naively that he supposed the request for their temporary use implied a dance.

EASTERN AMATEURS VS. FULFORD. The interesting announcement comes from the East that E. D. Fulford will shoot a race against three crack amateurs of the famous Larchmont Gun Club. The Eastern-amateurs have done some uncommonly brilliant work at the traps, and only a few days ago Capt. Jack Brewer of Kanssas City, a tiptoper in the professional ranks, was taken into camp rather handily by Mr. Dawdo of the Riverton Gun Club of Camden, N. J. Out of this match arose a warm discussion of the relative merits of amateur and professional trap shooters, and the result is the match between Mr. Fulford and the three amateurs. It is popularly hinted that Mr. Fulford's opponent will be Edgar Murphy, who has defeated the crack amateurs of two hemispheres, George Work and Lysander Thompson.

Each man is to shoot at 100 birds, thirty yards rise and fifty yards limit, under modified Hurlingham rules, and the winner in each match to receive $50. The latter provision, of course, places the contest beyond the confines of amateur dom and brings it fully into the domain of professionalism. But that doesn't in the least diminish the interest felt in the contest by all lovers of the gun. against three crack amateurs of the famous

How Breen Breaks records.

If some fellow should walk a mile in three hours and tell the next reporter he met that he had beaten the world's record, it is probable that the story would be telegraphed all over the country and it would gravely be announced next morning that another world's record had been broken. Last Thursday at Picton, Noya. Scotla, Hudson Breen skated that this 9m. 24s. beats the world's amateur record. Now the record shows that at Newburgh, N. Y., Feb. 7, 1881, J. F. Donoghue skated three miles in 9m. 19 1-5s. At Heerenveen, Friesland, Dec. 18, 1890, the Same man skated three miles in 9m. 17s. At Alinneapolis, Minn. last Sunday, J. S. Johnson skated three miles in 9m. 2s. In a five-mile race, and in Trondhjem, Norway, Jan. 24, 1892, P. Oestland skated three miles in 8m. 651-5s. No doubt many other amateurs have beaten 9m. 24s. Mr. Breen's trumpeters must study up some other fable, for this one is too absurd. HOW BREEN BREAKS RECORDS.

MISSING BALLIE MOORE. Was Secretly Married to a Shoe-Drummer in Illinois.

New York, Feb. 14.-The cause of the mys terious disappearance of Sallie Moore, the daughter of a Kentucky clergyman, while visiting relatives in this city several weeks ago is now known. She had been secretly married and fled to avoid exposure, if letters in the possession of her relatives tell the story correctly. They know the girl went to Philadelphia, was engaged as a cook by Dr.

story correctly. They know the girl went to Philadelphia, was engaged as a cook by Dr. Jamieson and having been sent away because her condition was discovered, she got another situation as a servant in the family of F. M. Jobson, disappearing again on Feb. 4 when she found her identity was suspected. The Philadelphia police have learned that the girl sought and was denied admission to several hospitals on Feb. 5 and 6. After that all trace of her is lost.

The girl's story was that she had been secretly married to a shee drummer while visiting her sister in Illinois and that her nusband died three months after the wedding. Two letters now in the possession of Miss Moore's sister and the latter's husband, Mr. and Mrs. Cornell of this city, lead them to hope the girl's explanation of her condition is true. One of these letters was found by a half sister of the missing girl with whom she lived in Marion, Ky. It addresses the recipient as "My darling wife," entreating her to return to him and threatens to make their marriage public if she, refuses, It indicates that trouble had led to a separation. The other letter was found by Mrs. Cornell a few days ago among Miss Moore's effects. It prepared Mrs. Cornell for the first letter, then off its way from Kentucky. The second letter was apparently from the girl's husband. It has been sent to the Sheriff of Crittenden County, Ky., who is now looking for the writer, who signed himself "John D." It was dated at Cranesville, Ky.

Mr. Cornell said he had no idea of the husband's identity, nor could be suggest a reason for the concealment of the marriage, unless it was a disagreement followed by a separation.
